Package Manager is an all-in-one experience. IT teams never have to track down documents to manage software or get support. They never have to leave Package Manager – everything is in one workspace. As software is downloaded, the configuration panes are added to Package Manager where all your solutions are at the fingertips.

The screenshot displays the Hitachi Solutions Package Manager interface. On the left, a navigation pane lists options like Home, Recent, Pinned, Package Manager, Manage, Discover, Transfer, Engage Alerts, Alert Types, Alert Hierarchy Config, Task Manager, Task List Categories, Task List Types, and Task List Templates. The main area shows a list of installed packages with details for 'Effective Grid' selected. The 'Effective Grid' view includes a search bar, version information (8.5.3.0), a 'Reinstall' button, and a description: 'Allows creating both editable and non-editable grids with a variety of custom functionality.' Below this, there are tabs for 'Overview', 'Release Notes', and 'Solution History'. A preview window at the bottom shows a grid of data with columns for 'Name', 'Status', and 'Action'.
